WHAT WAS IT LIKE BEING IN THE BOARDROOM FOR A LIVE FINALE? Lee: It was a lot of fun. It was live, so, unlike the usual boardrooms, this one wasn't going to be edited. But the crowd was amazing and, as I was backstage preparing myself to go on live, I could hear my family and friends screaming for me, which was just incredible.

WAS IT NICE TO SEE ALL THE FORMER CONTESTANTS AGAIN?

Lee: I've seen a lot of them, but it was the first time we were all together and all the nerves had settled — well, Sean and I were still in the game and the hunt — but everyone else was relaxed and just had a great time. It's a great group of outgoing, fun people. So we had a blast.

DID YOU THINK YOU'D MAKE IT TO THE TOP TWO?

Lee: I was the youngest contestant by far. It was funny, we were going around the table when we first got here and people were saying, "I got my MBA in '99," or, "I got my law degree in 2000," and I'm like, "I got my bachelor's degree in May." But I was really confident. I got so many e-mails from college students and young professionals who really feel restricted by their age, and it's so rewarding to hear them be inspired. The interview process itself is a great experience, but getting e-mails from college students saying that I'm an inspiration is really the most rewarding part of this whole thing. And that will stay with me for the rest of my life.

HOW DO YOU FEEL NOW?

Lee: I feel like I can do anything I set my mind to. And I've learned to trust my instincts. I pushed myself further than I ever thought possible. Our work schedule was so grueling, I lost 20 pounds. People have no idea what it's really like. I went in thinking, "I'll go live in a suite in Trump Tower, I'll sell some pizza sandwiches." From day one they had us working. I also feel like I got more polished and grew on every single task. I think most people would agree that I grew the most over the 15 tasks.

WHAT WAS IT LIKE WORKING WITH MR. TRUMP?

Lee: It was a lot of fun, and if he likes you, it's even more fun! He's a great dad, and it was amazing to get the chance to meet his children and his wife. One of the most memorable things about the experience was being able to learn firsthand from one of the biggest business moguls in the world. I was in the boardroom a lot, so I got to spend a lot more time with Mr. Trump and get an idea of what makes him tick. And they don't show it so much, but he is really funny. Don't get me wrong — he's tough on us, he'll call you a schmuck or a fool, and he is brutally honest — but at the same time, he jokes around with us and is a really cool, genuine guy.

WHAT ARE YOU UP TO NOW?

Lee: I'm fielding a lot of different offers. Actually, Mr. Trump called me over at the end of the finale last night and we're supposed to meet next week, which is great because it validates my efforts. And I'm working on a book about office politics, too. People can check out what I'm up to on my web site, leebienstock.com.
